Distinctiveness of the Institution

Academic Session 2021-2022

Most of the students of this co-educational institution come from low income group families mostly engaged in agriculture and informal sector activities. By educating the students the institution tries to empower them for a better livelihood in future.

The number of students taking admission to the institution is gradually increasing that reflects eagerness to higher education in this rural area. The high proportion of girl students in the institution indicates a rise in woman empowerment.

The academic and cultural milieu of the college inculcates a sense of trust and bonding among the students which will help them to grow as citizens respectful to the tradition and culture of the country and citizens who will place the good of the society and country over their personal well-being.
